BULL CALENDAR MODEL: Long-Term Market Trend Indicator

The Bull-Calendar Model uses the Bull-Bear Model strategy during bull markets and the Calendar Effects Model strategy during bear markets. Bull and bear markets are determined by the Bull-Bear Indicator. The goal of this Model is to be fully invested in equities during bull markets, and only exposed to the relatively few days with the highest probability of profit during bear markets. During bull markets, activity occurs on quarterly intervals. In bear markets, there are 12-14 Calendar Effects trades per year.

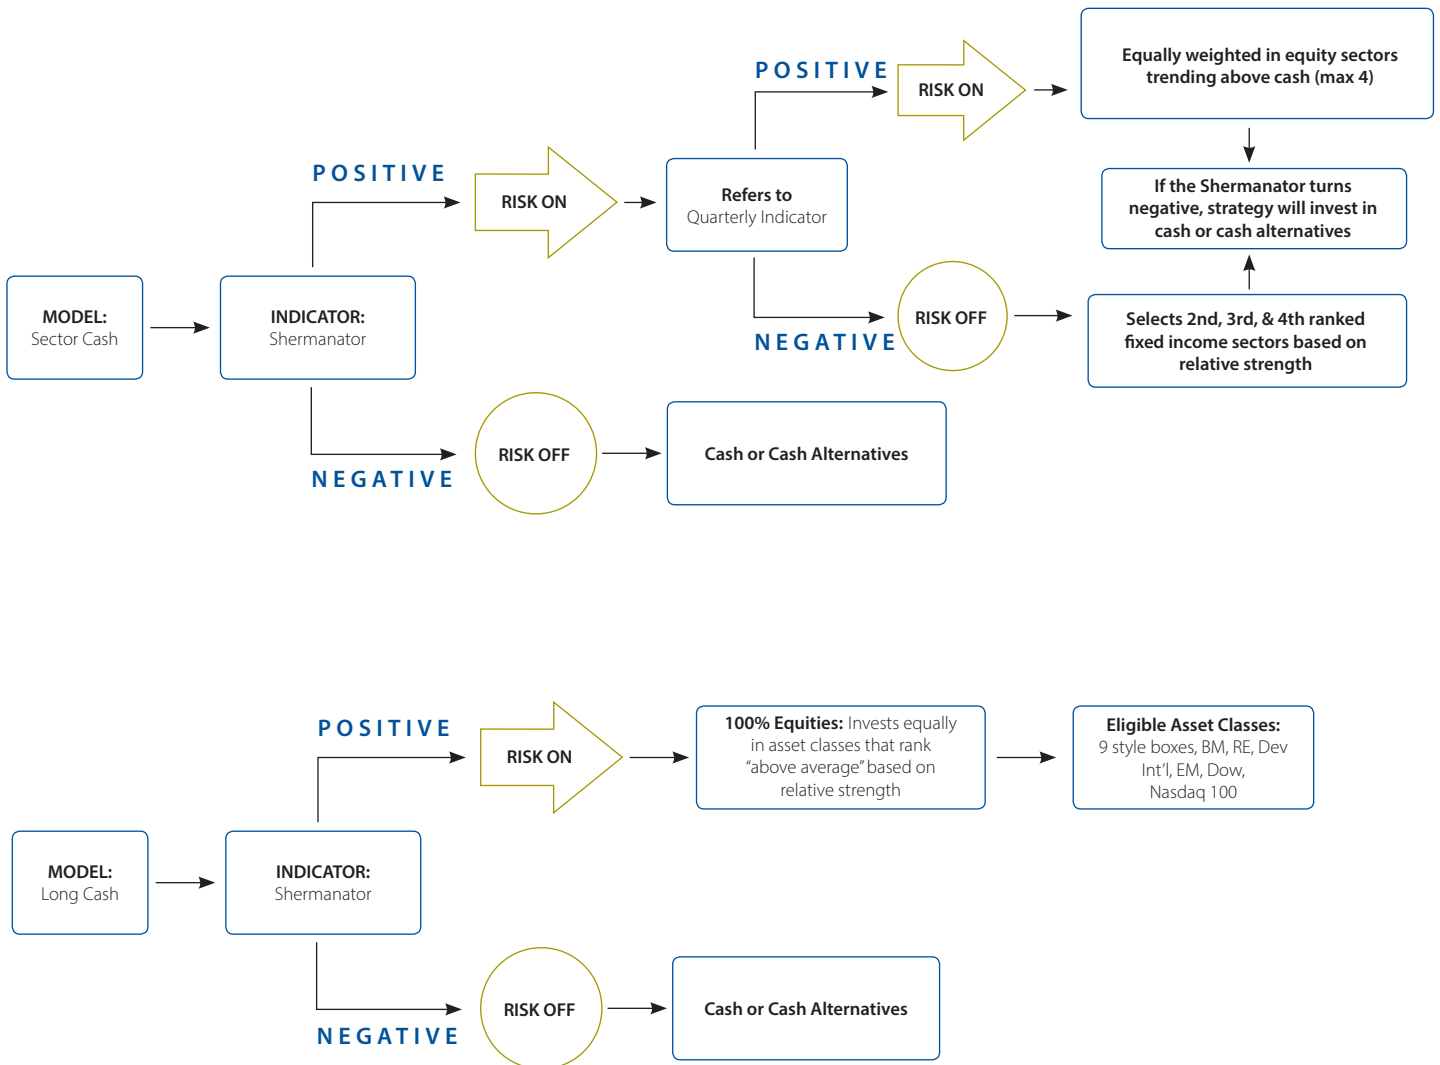

STAR MIN MAX 0-100 MODEL: Intermediate-Term Market Trend Indicator

The Simple Trend And Rank ("STAR") Min/Max Model is a low-activity Model designed for risk-managed out-performance over the long term. The model seeks to be maximally (100%) invested in equities when equities are trending upwards, and minimally (0%) invested in equities when equities are trending downwards. The STAR Min/Max Model portfolio is reallocated quarterly. The trend measurements used by the Model are intermediate to longer-term (months to quarters timeframe). The Model does not use the Shermanator or Bull-Bear Indicator.

SECTOR LONG CASH MODEL: Short-Term Market Trend Indicator

The Sector Long Cash Model is a Short-Term Model whose goal is to be invested "long" during short-term uptrends in the U.S. equity market and invested in the safety of cash or cash alternatives during short term downtrends. Activity takes place when a portfolio is established at the inception of each uptrend or downtrend, which is determined by the model signal. During an uptrend activity occurs within the sector component monthly and within the asset class component quarterly. The sector component half of this model may be invested in fixed income sectors even when the Short-Term Indicator is positive if the quarterly trend indicator is negative.

IMPORTANT FUND INFORMATION

Mutual Funds involve risk including the possible loss of principal. ETFs are subject to specific risks, depending on the nature of the underlying strategy of the fund. These risks could include liquidity risk, sector risk, as well as risks associated with fixed income securities, real estate investments, and commodities, to name a few. In general, the price of a fixed income security falls when interest rates rise. The Fund may invest, directly or indirectly, in "junk bonds". Such securities are speculative investments that carry greater risks than higher quality debt securities. Investments in lesser-known, small and medium capitalization companies may be more vulnerable than larger, more established organizations. Investments in foreign securities could subject the Fund to greater risks including, currency fluctuation, economic conditions, and different governmental and accounting standards. Increased portfolio turnover may result in higher brokerage commissions, dealer mark-ups and other transaction costs and may result in taxable capital gains.

There is no guarantee that any investment strategy will achieve its objectives or avoid losses.
